ATTACK TRUCKS AS FUEL TIEUP SHORTAGE GROWS

First violence, a court order to keep "hands off" CIO affiliate fuel trucks, and the beginning of a general paralysis of business throughout eastern Massachusetts marked the second day of Boston's fuel truck drivers' deadlock.

2 BANDITS MUST DIE IN KILLING

Wallace W. Green and Walter St. Sauveur, youthful bandit slayers of a 35-year-old Somerville storekeeper, must die in the electric chair, the Massachusetts Supreme Court decided today.

Convicted of shooting William Phillips to death while he threw bottles at them during a holdup in his store on May 31, the two were sentenced to death by Judge Wilford D. Gray in Middlesex court October 5.

They had appealed on a number of assignments of error which the court refused to consider.

St. Sauveur said he had been

Walter St. Sauveur Wallace Green tricked into confessing in St. Louis when Lieutenant Daniel O'Connell of Somerville showed him a telegram allegedly explaining that Green, back in Cambridge, had described the crime and named St. Sauveur as the killer.

The court decided there was no reason an admission of guilt should not be accepted as evidence.

The court also cited the case of the Commonwealth vs. Devereux, the famed "car barn slayers" trial in deciding partners in crime are equally guilty of felonies committed.

The two will appear in superior court within the next few days to learn the date on which they must die.

Warden Francis J. W. Langan, at State Prison, Charlestown, said he would not notify the doomed men until after he had received official notification of the action Supreme Court, probably tomorrow.

40 Reported Dead In Mexico Wreck

WASHINGTON, April 13 (INS)—Forty persons were reported killed today when an express train, bound from Laredo, Tex., to Mexico City, was wrecked in a collision with another train from Guadalajara, Mexico.

The wreck, reported by American Consul General James B. Stewart at Mexico City, occurred at 4 a. m. today 220 kilometers north of the Mexican capital, about 30 kilometers south of the city of Queretaro. No Americans were among the casualties reported.

In Mattapan, five men in a sedan swooped down on Harry Olitsky, Washington street, South End, as he was delivering fuel from his privately-owned truck, opened the truck tank faucets and let 200 gallons of oil pour onto the street.

Other machines filled with "roving pickets" were reported as harassing other private vendors.

As a result of the outbreak the Retail Fuel Dealers' Association complained to John P. McBride, acting state commissioner of the necessities of life, that many of their members, in fear of being beaten and having their trucks wrecked, had stopped making deliveries.

TRUCKS ARE ATTACKED

In Arlington, a fuel company's truck was seized and driven several blocks when a driver attempted to take it out. In East Boston a carload of pickets chased a truck down Marginal street, finally stopping it.

In Boston, police were stationed at bridgeheads and main arteries entering and leaving the city, at distribution centers and fuel tanks. Oil trucks moved through the city, conveyed by police cruising cars, and Superintendent Edward W. Fallon toured the city.

MAKE NEW PEACE MOVE

The Timken Oil Burner Company, Shell, Standard Oil, Sunoco and Beacon Oil Company said off their drivers, unable to move their wares. The Metropolitan Ice Company, Hartol Oil and Pacific Oil meantime signed new contracts.

Judge Abraham E. Pineski, in Suffolk court, ordered Henry E.

WAR AID PLEDGED GREECE, RUMANIA

By the Associated Press

LONDON, April 13—Great Britain and France pledged "all the support in their power" today to Greece and Rumania if their independence were threatened.

Bridges Asks Senate Condemn Roosevelt 'War Hysteria' Talks

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Senator Bridges (R., N. H.), asked the Senate today to express condemnation of "all inflammatory statements and press releases of the high officials of this government which have the effect of antagonizing the peoples of other nations against us."

The New Hampshire senator introduced a resolution saying that "it is the sense of the Senate that this government must do all in its power to prevent American manhood from dying on the battlefields of Europe and to protect American women and children from the hazards which modern war presents to non-combatants at home."

The resolution further set out that "the Senate urges upon the people of the United States cool and calm consideration of events transpiring in Europe to the end that they may not be lashed into war fever by militant utterances from whatever source."

In his statement, Bridges said he was asking "Senate disapproval and condemnation of the President and other high government officials which are of an inflammatory nature and tend to create war hysteria in the United States."

"It cannot be denied that the President, due to his high position as head of this government, should use great care and judgment in his public utterances."

"I have particular reference to his statement made before embarking upon his recent fishing trip, a statement to the effect that he might be forced to cut his trip short due to a sudden European crisis."

"This particular statement not only caused unrest in this country, but in Europe as well."

"The statement made within the week at Warm Springs, Ga., to the effect that he hoped to return in the fall unless we become involved in war has caused almost a condition of war hysteria from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

Sen. Bridges

Judge Abraham E. Pineski, in Suffolk court, ordered Henry E.

Dread of War Drives Boy, 17, to Hang Self

LOS ANGELES, April 13 (INS)—Telling his mother he could not stand the fear of impending world war, Buddy Merriel, a 17-year-old high school lad, ended his life by hanging, police reported today.

The youth told his mother he had had "terrible dreams about war," and instead of going to school went to the garage and ended his life.

TANKER WITH 8 MEN ON ROCKPORT LEDGE

ROCKPORT, April 13—Driven inshore by strong northwest winds today, the motor tanker Passaic Sun with 312,000 gallons of gasoline in her holds crashed on Avery's ledge, a mile offshore from this town.

The forward hold of the vessel was punched in by the jagged rocks and the vessel, while in no immediate danger, was declared by Coast Guards to be in precarious position.

Eight crew members elected to remain aboard their ship and were aiding Coast Guards in pumping 70,000 gallons of the gasoline into a lighter.

When the gasoline is pumped out an attempt will be made to free her on the ledge.

The Passaic Sun, 189 feet long and of 533 gross tons, was bound from Newark, N. J., to Portland, Me. Total value of the vessel and her cargo was given by company officials as $306,000.

The action, announced to the House of Commons in emergency session by Prime Minister Chamberlain, widened the anti-aggression front started by the two powers with a similar pledge to Poland after Germany absorbed Memel.

Chamberlain made it clear the extension was the sequel to Italy's Good Friday seizure of Albania. Premier Daladier of France made a similar statement in Paris and announced his nation had reinforced its defenses "to guarantee the frontiers of France and its empire against any surprise."

In the British House of Lords, Foreign Secretary Halifax said recent acts of aggression by the axis powers were condemned, not only "by the overwhelming mass of opinion in this country, but also by most of the states of Europe and by the United States of America."

TURKEY INCLUDED

Chamberlain in his speech made it plain that Turkey was included indirectly in the new guarantee, stating that the assurance to Greece and Rumania were being communicated "especially to Turkey, whose close relations with the Greek government are well known."

Here is the Prime Minister's statement regarding the pledge to Greece and Rumania:

"... They (the British government) have come to the conclusion that in the event of any action being taken that would clearly threaten the independence of Greece or Rumania and which the Greek or Rumanian governments respectively considered it necessary to resist with their national forces, His Majesty's government will feel bound at once to lend the Greek or Rumanian governments all the support in their power."

STILL WOOS RUSSIA

This was almost identical in language to the pledge made to Poland on March 31.

Chamberlain declared anti-aggression consultations with Soviet Russia were continuing when members of the House shouted:

"What about Russia?" Chamberlain spoke of the Italian coup in the Adriatic as "the fresh exhibition of the use of force" and declared "we are confronted with a divergence of testimony in the Italian and Albanian accounts."

The prime minister, who spoke for 34 minutes, disclosed new Italian assurances that Italian troops, planes and pilots would leave Spain immediately after the Madrid victory parade, now set tentatively for May 2.

$12 Lynn Clerk Gives Up in Theft of $9893

Weary, travel-stained and haunted by visions of a heavy hand suddenly placed on his shoulder, Clayton Martin, 21-year-old Lynn payroll car service clerk, surrendered today to Back Bay police.

CLAYTON MARTIN AND SERGT. J. MULLIN

Since vanishing 10 days ago, allegedly with a payroll of $9893.06 entrusted to him, the $12-a-week clerk has been rushing about the country, he said, with the spectre of arrest always right behind him.

Now he knows that crime does not pay, he said, and that while "you can run away, you cannot run away from it."

"It's been like a bad dream," he said in the police headquarters lineup before being turned over to Lynn authorities, who hold a larceny warrant.

Taken to Lynn following the Boston lineup, Martin fell asleep while being questioned by Chief Inspector Kane of Lynn.

Kane had the youth moved to a cot in the detention room. He said he believed Martin was in a state of "mental collapse" and planned to have him examined by City Physician Charles A. Worthen. Shortly after 3 a. m., Sergeant Francis Mullen, on the Back Bay station booking desk, saw a youth walk into the station.

Haggard, disheveled and apparently nervous, the youth drew out a loaded .38-caliber revolver and laid it on the desk before the sergeant.

"I'm Clayton Martin," said the youth. "I'm wanted for a $10,000 payroll loss in Lynn."

Conscience After Him

Mullen took the gun, called other officers and formally placed Martin under arrest. He was given the usual search and in a short time was on his way to police headquarters, where he was placed in the lineup.

Under questioning by Captain Joseph Buccigross, the lineup inquisitor, Martin said he lives in River street, Lynn. He told the story of his mad ten days with little urging, apparently eager to get it all unloaded.

"In the 10 days since I've been away from home with the $10,000," he recited, "I've been traveling from city to city—trying to run away from it all."

"It's been like a bad dream and my mind has been so much of a blank that I don't know how it started, and I don't know many of the places where I've been."

"I went to San Francisco and back and had only $1.75 in my pocket when I gave myself up this morning."

"I have no idea of the many hotels where I stayed, and all my clothing and money are scattered from here to the Pacific Coast."

CLUES KEG MURDER VICTIM LEFT TRAP 7 IN DOPE RING

Revenge for the brutal New York slaying of a Revere housewife, almost two years ago, came today with arrest of seven members of a $1,000,000-a-month narcotics ring with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo.

The housewife was Mrs. Esther Gordon, 38, widow of Max ("One-Eye") Gordon, notorious pedlar of narcotics, murdered near El Paso, Texas, in 1937.

Her body, shot through the head, stabbed nine times and stuffed into a keg, was washed up on the beach under Hell Gate bridge in August of 1937, a few weeks after her husband's slaying in Texas.

CLUES FROM THE DEAD

Mrs. Gordon, who lived with her 17-year-old son by a previous marriage, Harold Musgrave, Jr., at 146 Shirley avenue, Revere, journeyed to New York to demand an accounting from her dead mate's associates in the underworld.

She registered at the Hotel Edson, New York city, and then disappeared. Her body was found in the keg a day or so later. It had been washed up by the tide rip which swirls through Hell Gate, and which has turned "Dead Man's Beach" into a repository for all the flotsam and jetsam of the restless East river.

Police here and in New York made a complete search of her belongings and it was revealed today, letters, a diary and other material found aided federal agents in tracking down members of the ring.

It was a long, careful investigation, however, with no arrests until yesterday when, in a series of simultaneous raids in New York, Oklahoma City and Kansas City the seven were seized.

Two were arrested in New York. They are Charles Casassa and Dominick Martin, said by narcotic agents to be associated with what was once the Irving ("Waxy Gordon") Wechseler narcotic ring. "Waxy" Gordon is not "Waxy," the man killed in El Paso. He is, instead, a former top man in the New York underworld, now serving the last months of a 9-year sentence for income tax evasion.

Reputed head of the Western division is Angelo Donnici, 64, owner of a saloon in Kansas City next door to the temporary federal building. He is accused by federal agents of receiving dope shipments from New York, which in turn were distributed throughout the West.

Also held in Kansas City was Policeman Otto H. Collins, 40, accused of having acted as guard for shipments of narcotics.

The narcotics sold, according to federal agents, were shipped to New York from China via the Suez canal, and distributed from there to all parts of the country.

More arrests are expected.

Ben Pine's Sister, Niece Die in Fire

GLoucester, April 13.—Mrs. Violet Grant, 52-year-old sister of Captain Ben Pine, famed Gloucester skipper, and his niece, Violet Pine, eight, were burned to death today when flames destroyed the Grant home in Taylor street.

The victims perished within the sight of Mrs. Grant's husband, Carl E. Grant, a deputy game warden, who believed they were safe before he ran to ring in an alarm.

A fourth occupant of the house, Louise Fraga, 16, Gloucester high school sophomore and a maid in the house, escaped to the roof of shed and was rescued by firemen. Roy Pine, father of the dead girl and brother of Captain Pine, is traveling in New York state by automobile. Massachusetts state police and radio stations are endeavoring to locate the father and inform him of the tragedy.

Grant told police he and his wife were awakened by the smell of smoke. He shouted to his wife to get the two girls out the back way after he discovered the living room ablaze downstairs.

WHERE WOMAN, NIECE BURNED TO DEATH

'LOVE' SECRET BARED BY KNOX

A secret romantic interlude with an unnamed woman all during the night preceding the death of Mrs. Helen Darragh Dale, fair divorcee, found shot in his Commonwealth avenue apartment, was bared from the witness stand today by ex-State Trooper George T. Knox, accused of murdering her.

He met the woman at a Back Bay restaurant, Knox testified, and went with her to an unlocated house, where he spent the night in her company.

He was so intoxicated, he said, that he didn't know where he was, or what he did; but that in the morning he rolled back home, suffering from a hangover, and was greeted by Mrs. Dale.

STAR WITNESS SEED

"She wasn't very friendly," he said, "but we didn't quarrel."

The revelation of this hitherto secret element in the case was the second sensation of the day; the

Widow Hunted As 'Kiss of Death' Lure

PHILADELPHIA, April 13 (AP).—Coroner Charles H. Hersch announced today traces of poison had been found in the body of a grocer, exhumed from a grave in an investigation of deaths blamed on a three-state ring that killed to collect insurance money.

Detective Sergeant Samuel Ricciardi said the discovery probably would clear the way for new arrests—including a woman who he said had "a kiss of death." One man has been convicted of murder—with a mandatory death sentence—and two women are awaiting trial for murder.

The most recent body examined was that of Pietro Stea, exhumed three years after he died. At that time the cause of death was listed as diabetes and heart disease.

Ricciardi, active in the poisoning investigation for months, has said if an analysis showed poison caused the death he would turn his investigation to a Hampton, N. J., woman he described as a "professional widow."

Her second and third husbands died within 21 months he said, adding she had been acquainted with Stea.

Repairing hurricane damage to the building, one of the seven electricians, using a blow torch, inadvertently melted a sprinkler head.

That would have been comparatively trifling except for the fact that carbon dioxide gas instead of water is carried in the basement pipes as a fire dampener.

The fumes poured out and laid these seven low:

George W. Brock, 45; Ogden Sawyer, 28; Philip Cory, 45, and Charles Hart, 37, all of Providence; John Lytle, 44, of Cranston, and William Chestham, 46, and Charles Gorman, 36, both of Pawtucket.

Archie W. Merchant, head of the construction company bearing his name, aided in hauling out his unconscious employees.

They were revived by a physician and four firemen with an inhalator.

$300,000 Edgar Love Fight Is On Before Six Jurors

MIAMI, Fla., April 13—A six-man jury was speedily selected today to hear James Edgar's renewal of his $300,000 alienation of affections suit against Lewis E. Mallory, 3rd, Bradford, Pa., oil heir, who is recuperating at Bedford, Mass., from a heart attack.

Curley's Driver Fined $100

WEST WARWICK, R. I., April 13—Thomas H. Harding, 24, of Gallivan boulevard, Dorchester, Mass., chauffeur for former Governor James M. Curley of Massachusetts, was fined $100 in district court today on a speeding charge.

The chauffeur retracted a plea of not guilty before Judge James W. Leighton and pleaded nolo.

Defense counsel was John P. Hartigan, former Rhode Island attorney general and chairman of the Democratic State Committee.

Harding was arrested March 6 by Corporal Moses Sneed of Rhode Island state police, who said he chased the Curley limousine, with Curley a passenger, more than 12 miles through Cranston, Warwick and East Greenwich.

Wilson Ass'n To Dance Tonight

The Wilson Athletic and Social Association of Brighton will hold their annual spring dance tonight at Warren Hall, Brighton. Music will be furnished by Bob Adams Orchestra.

The committee consists of J. Cuzzo, F. Salvucci, E. Renda, A. Ciccone, D. Gentilucci and A. Cuzzo.

Circuit Judge Paul Burns directed counsel for Edgar to abridge the key testimony of a former trial as it was read to the jurors, eliminating unessentials.

Edgar, member of a prominent Detroit family, wore dark glasses and listened impassively to the reading. Mallory, his attorney said, had ready a written denial of Edgar's charges that intimacies had occurred between him and Edgar's blonde wife, the former Kathryn Crawford.

Miss Crawford, who has since divorced Edgar and resumed her stage name, was also absent. She is the daughter of Anne Ruelling Moran, Boston hotel housekeeper.

Edgar won a $35,000 verdict in 1936 on his charge that his wife and Mallory kept bedroom trysts at a Miami hotel, but the State Supreme court set it aside as "excessive" and ordered a new trial.

Miss Crawford obtained her divorce after accusing Edgar of gambling, drunkenness and personal uncleanness.

Bridal to Cabaret Singer Slips Mind, Says Bigamy Case Girl

Pretty Elizabeth Heady—her maiden name is given to avoid confusion—was arrested today and told police she hasn't the slightest idea whether she is a bigamist or not.

She knows, of course, that she married Wilbur Herman of Fenwick street, Somerville, when she was 18, six years ago, but to save herself she can't recall marrying Kenneth Brenner of Burbank street, Back Bay, a year ago last December in an elopement to New Hampshire.

But, police said, she admitted if Kenneth says they were married, they probably were, and so, what is there to do about it?

That, police told her, is entirely up to the judge.

Arraigned before Judge Timothy J. Ahern, she pleaded not guilty, and was held in $600 bonds for further hearing April 26.

THEN CAME TROUBLE

It's pretty confusing to Kenneth, too, whose story to the police led to her arrest.

They eloped, he said, after a romance at a local cabaret where he was a singer. They went to Seabrook, N. H., were married, and returned to live in an apartment in Dudley street, Roxbury. Then, one night, there came a banging at the door.

"Don't open it," he said his bride told him. "My girl friend is having trouble with her husband. It's probably him, and he might make trouble for us."

The banging continued, and his bride told him to slip out the back way, and call police. This he did, returning with the officers.

HUSBAND, "FRIEND"

"And there she stood with this intruder," he declared. "She smiled and said, pointing at the stranger, 'This is my husband.' Then pointing at me, she said: 'This is my friend.'"

"You could have floored me with a whisper, but I didn't say anything. Then, afterwards, she repeated that he was her husband."

"I've got a chance to get a fine new job, and I want this business cleared up, so I can get an annulment."

Elizabeth, fetchingly attired in a new spring coat, with cerise trimmings, a hat and belt to match, indicated she will not contest any such proceeding. She is, she said, a salesgirl when she works, but is just now out of a job. She lives in an apartment in Hemmingsway street, Back Bay.

It is, she said, very, very confusing.

Saddest Boys In World Won't Get Over This!

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—Eleven boys who ran away from St. Malachy's Ocean Home, an orphanage, to see the circus, had real cause for grief today.

Police rounded them up after an all-night search before any reached the circus. Returned home, the runaways were dismayed to learn the circus had invited the entire orphanage to be its guests next Monday at Madison Square Garden.

Of course, everyone will get to go—except the errant eleven.

Borah Warns Youth On Madness of War

WASHINGTON, April 13 (INS)—The dean of the Senate and a helmsman in U. S. foreign affairs for 30 years—Senator William E. Borah (R.) of Idaho—warned America's youth today against the "madness" of fighting another of Europe's wars.

When war comes abroad, Borah said, "It will be sordid" and "imperialistic," and he pleaded with youth to "investigate for yourselves as to the real issue which threatens to involve us in another European war."

Borah blamed Europe's democracies as much as its dictators for brewing the bitter broth of war.

Borah's warning to youth was made in a letter to students of St. Olaf College at Northfield, Minn., when he asked him for his views of the international situation and threat of war.

(Background note: Ranking Republican and former chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, Borah and Senator Hiram W. Johnson (R.) of California—the two "great isolationists"—led the fight to keep this country out of the League of Nations. Borah has steadfastly fought all U. S. involvement abroad. He has vigorously disagreed with President Roosevelt's fear that this country would inevitably be drawn into a European war. Last week, the President told a crowd at Warm Springs, Ga., that he would return in the fall "if we don't have a war.")

ASSAILS 'MAD' EUROPE

Youth must determine for itself the conditions of another European war, Borah emphasized, adding:

"A thorough investigation will disclose to you that a more sordid, imperialistic war could hardly be imagined than this war, should it unfortunately come."

Indicting all the nations of Europe, Borah's letter continued:

"This is not a war over the question of democracy or totalitarianism. It was the democracies of Europe which wrote the secret treaties by which all spoils were divided even before the World War was closed."

"It was the democracies of Europe which wrote the Versailles Treaty, not a peace treaty, but a spoils treaty."

"It was the democracies which refused for 20-odd years to make any changes in the Versailles Treaty looking toward peace."

Borah bitterly assailed the "madness" of Europe and complained that countries were continually getting themselves into trouble and calling on the Western Hemisphere to get them out.

PLEADS WITH YOUTH
"These European powers," he wrote, "whatever may be their idea of ideology or political views, pursue one and the same course when they come to deal with international affairs."

"They all alike violate treaties, disregard the most fundamental principles of right, pursue methods which inevitably lead to war, and then call upon the United States, Canada and other nations to save them from their own intolerable and vicious methods."

"I urge, therefore, that you ascertain for yourselves just what all this madness means, rely upon your own investigation, your own intuition, as to right or wrong."

Borah's consistent advocacy of the policy of isolation led him to a prediction in the closing words of his letter that American youth, as it takes over the reins of this country, will see to it that the United States stays out of European troubles.

City Employees Won't Go Unpaid

Despite waning cash reserves in many city departments, there will be no "payless paydays" for city employees because of failure to approve Mayor Tobin's $42,000,000 budget, according to Chairman Perlie Dyer Chase of the City Council committee on appropriations.

Those parts of the budget calling for cash supplies for city departments will be approved and submitted to the Council for passage Monday, Chase said today.

He added, however, that estimates for supplies and contracts which "seem exorbitant to the committee" will be subjected to further scrutiny.

The committee met with but a bare quorum again, three important members being absent. They are Councilmen Clement A. Norton, Hyde Park; Sidney Rosenberg, Dorchester; and Henry L. Shattuck, Back Bay.

Dies Probers' Files Ransacked 4 Times

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Offices of the Dies committee on un-American activities were broken into four times in the ten days preceding April 3, it was disclosed today. Desks had been searched and files in one room rifled.

2 MILLION WILLED BY WOMAN

Mrs. Alice Cheney Baitzell who died at Dover last Nov. 3, left personal property valued at $1,821,249, 34 and real estate valued at $149,400, according to an appraisal of the estate filed today in Dedham Probate Court by William F. Chase, Walter Channing and Robert A. Hunnequin, appraisers.

She also left jewelry and silverware valued at $78,754. The largest single item in the estate is 2650 shares of General Electric stock, valued at $121,562.

After public bequests of $75,000, and specific bequests of $200,000, one-fifth of the residue is left to Wellesley College, the other four-fifths going to four nephews, John Davis, New York; G. Bancroft Davis and Arthur E. Davis, Dover, and Charles W. Cheney, Concord.

A 229-acre estate, known as Ellenton, goes to Arthur Davis, with the provision that if he is unable to maintain it it shall go to Wellesley.

Just Another Day in Career Of Saltonstall

Before reaching the State House today Governor Saltonstall was a busy man.

First he visited the United States Army Base in South Boston to return a courtesy call of the commandant. Then he went to South Station to see the streamlined train, Coronation Scot, in which the King and Queen of England will ride during the visit to America next month.

Later he planted a Linden tree on the station house grounds in honor of Thomas Jefferson.

As he was about to plant the tree a pair of oxen, attached to a wagon, on which were placards advertising a ball, came along. The governor was invited to attempt to milk one of the animals, but he was not very successful.

A drum corp from the Boys' Club of Charlestown escorted the covered wagon. They all became part of the tree planting ceremony and were joined by the color guard from the 211th coast artillery.

Harvard Needs Fruit Juices?

Harvard students and their Sunday fruit juices became a weighty problem to the State Legislature today.

Cambridge city officials have halted deliveries under an old blue law as the Legislature was asked to make Sunday deliveries legal.

Representative Leo E. Diehl of Cambridge, asked the joint legislative rules committee to legalize fresh fruit deliveries. He told the committee that Cambridge officials have halted deliveries not only to Harvard College, but to hospitals and other institutions on the ground that such deliveries violate the Sabbath laws. He said that if the juices are delivered on Saturday it may be spoiled by Sunday.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 8 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorder, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubing rid your poisonous waste from your blood (see Doan's Pills).

Thousands See 'Coronation Scot' as Famous Train Ends Boston Visit Today

More thousands today crowded South Station to inspect the "Coronation Scot," sleek British streamlined train on a tour of America before being placed on exhibition at the New York World's Fair.

Trial runs have reached 114 miles per hour. More than 350,000 have already visited the train in 14 northeastern and central states. It leaves at 1 p.m. today for Providence, R. I.

Cold Snap Near End; Real Spring Is Near

If you think today's cold, don't let grandpa hear you crabbng about it, because this time the old gentleman has it over you, and good.

The mercury slid to 26.4 early this a. m. to make this the coldest day this month; but way back in '74 it was 26 today, and in '96—hold tight—it was 84.

Following the near-blizzard that hit Boston, glazing the streets and spreading below-freezing temperatures over all New England, the forecaster promised that after another night of cold, spring finally would come.

Warm weather, the forecaster said, is just around the corner.

Saturday, opening the trout fishing and major league ball playing seasons simultaneously, will be a fine day, with the sun shining and the thermometer up.

Authorities said the cold weather had halted thawing in the headlands of New Hampshire and Maine so that deer and flocks this year were leaving.

British Rulers See Troops at Drill

ALDERSHOT, England, April 13 (AP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth motored here from Windsor Castle and spent the day watching field firing displays and camouflaged infantry in "defensive exercises."

LYNN YOUTH GIVES UP IN $9893 THEFT

Under Captain Buccigross' questioning, young Martin explained that he stopped at hotels in some cities less than an hour, because he feared he might be recognized, or suspected, or something—and that a police hand might clap down suddenly on his shoulder.

It was a sudden urge, he indicated, that made him take the $9893 payroll entrusted to him last week, and then to vanish, leaving behind a shocked and grief-stricken bride of three months.

"I've been trying to get along on $12 a week," he said in the lineup. "I had been hoping some day to better myself, but now that I was married the future looked black. I couldn't see how I could hold my family together."

NEAR COLLAPSE

"Even my clothing was falling apart. I was blue and discouraged."

Martin appeared to be on the verge of breaking down, standing there in the lights. There were tears glistening in his eyes. But he shook himself together and went on.

"My mind seemed to go blank and I helped myself to this money."

"Somewhere on the way back—hoping for a break—I sent back nearly $7000 in a box."

(Two days ago, amazed officials of the Coast Armed Car Service of Lynn received a box from Baltimore in ordinary, unregistered mail and discovered it contained $6768.)

WANTS ANOTHER CHANCE

"The whole thing is a bad dream and I want to forget it as soon as I can," continued Martin. "I want to begin things over again. I want a fresh start in life."

First, however, he got a fresh start back to Lynn, the Lynn police hastening to Boston to claim him as soon as they were informed of the surrender.

NEW TOGS DISGUISE

Before he fell asleep during the Lynn questioning, Martin stated that during his airplane and bus trips around the country—as far south as Amarillo, Texas, and as far west as San Francisco—he had never slept in a bed.

All his sleeping was done in planes or buses and each day he bought a new suit and topcoat, discarding the previous ones, although he may have worn them only a few hours. This, he said, was to change his "disguise."

He used "Harold Thurston" and "Samuel McSworde" as aliases, he revealed.

According to Chief Inspector Kane, the youth admitted taking the money, and said his conscience bothered him a few hours after his flight, but he did not dare return.

IN LOVE WITH WIFE

"I certainly made a fool out of myself," the youth mumbled, and a shudder passed through his frame.

He told Lynn police that while he earned only $12 a week, his wife, a factory worker, makes $22, and he felt ashamed that she should support him.

"I'm awfully in love with her," he said. "She's a fine girl."

His bride of three months, the former Helen DeJowski, statuesque 29-year-old brunette, was at work today and had not visited Martin up to early afternoon.

MOSCOW, April 13 (AP).—More than 8800 women sailors now work aboard Soviet ships, according to figures published today.

Rome, Vatican Air Raid Signals Blast

ROME, April 13 (AP)—Anti-air raid whistles cleared the streets of Rome this morning in a test of the defenses of Italy's capital against bombardments from the sky.

The whistles sounded at 10:20 a. m. Three big bombers swooped low over the civilian airport at the edge of the city.

Pedestrians hurriedly sought shelter, with bicycle police sending legions indoors.

Buses and street cars stopped while passengers took refuge in nearby doorways, and storekeepers dropped shutters.

Hack drivers unharnessed and fettered horses.

Whistles sounded the end of the alarm at 10:40 a. m.

POPE REMAINS CALM

The alarm for a second sham raid was sounded at 10:55 a. m. During this test anti-aircraft guns popped blank shells at airplanes over the city, flecking the sky with puffs of white smoke.

Troops wearing gas masks patrolled the streets. The air raid practice at the Vatican found Pope Pius XII holding a series of private audiences. The Pontiff continued these calmly although a few of his visitors were late for their appointments because of traffic interruptions.

The Vatican siren sounded at the same time as the Rome alarm.

The Pope's chamberlain descended into the courtyard of San Damaso to see how the orders of the papal gendarmes were carried out.

CROWD LAUGHS IT OFF

Blue lights have been substituted for white in the most exposed parts of Vatican City and special controls installed to enable engineers to darken any part of the city immediately an alarm is given.

The third of the morning trials began at 11:50 a. m. and lasted until 12:40.

As before, police, steel-helmeted troops, carabinieri and plainclothesmen patrolled the streets or at windows.

As the trial dragged out its time, however, the crowds grew restless and began bantering the guards.

NEWTON SCHOOL BOY MISSING

Bernard Pullman, 14, son of a wealthy lumber dealer, was reported missing today to Newton police.

Explaining that his son had been missing since Tuesday, but that at first he thought the boy would return of his own desire, Bernard A. Pullman of Merion street, Newton, asked police aid.

Pullman owns a Somerville lumber company. His Newton home is in a fine residential district. "My son goes to Bigelow Junior High School," Pullman told police. "He's been having some difficulties in his studies. Nothing serious."

"Monday he was told by school authorities to stay after hours, but he didn't; he went out playing ball. Tuesday when he showed up, I understand they told him they were going to discuss the situation with me. Then he didn't come home."

No one has seen the boy since. Young Pullman had only 25 cents in his pocket when he left school for home. He was dressed in a gray reversible raincoat, a gray sweater and brown pants.

He is five feet four inches tall, weighs 125 pounds and has blue eyes and brown hair.

Flay Italy Invasion Of Albania

Chamberlain declared "the intolerable state of tension and alarm in which the world is being kept—poisoning every phase of human activity in every country." Chamberlain expressed his own "deep disappointment at the action in the Italian government which has cast a shadow over the common sense of their undertakings."

WAIT ITALY'S REPLY

London that the future of Albania is in the hands of the Albanians. Chamberlain said that the British government is waiting for Italy's reply to the ultimatum.

Chamberlain concluded: "Today we must stiffen our resolution—resolution not only to make ourselves strong to defend ourselves, but resolution also to play our part in siding with those who, faced by aggression or threatened with a loss of their freedom, decide to resist."

LABOR CRITICAL

In that resolution, and in the steps which we have taken and shall yet take to put that into effect, I am confident we shall have the approval of this House, this country, and the whole empire."

Chamberlain said that the British government is waiting for Italy's reply to the ultimatum.

POLISH EMBASSY FAMILIES ORDERED TO QUIT GERMANY

WARSAW, April 13 (AP)—The Polish foreign office was reported today to have ordered the families of Polish ambassadors and consuls to leave Germany.

The report was made as Poland apparently ignored German pressure to keep her out of the "anti-aggression" bloc of Britain and France, and the entire Warsaw press published editorials supporting the Polish position.

CITES NAZI TROOP MOVES

But the pro-government newspaper, Rzeczpospolita, declared that regarding anti-aggression bloc, Poland has no more to say than Germany, because German troops are concentrated along the Polish frontier from Slovakia to Moscow.

While declaring it was "Poland's" always to meet attempts at conciliation in a friendly way, threats will always be met there by increased resistance.

As a counterblast to continued German propaganda, the Polish government today issued a statement that it was not only ready to meet Germany in a friendly way, but also to play its part in siding with those who, faced by aggression or threatened with a loss of their freedom, decide to resist.

DEMANDS REPEATED

The Polish government today issued a statement that it was not only ready to meet Germany in a friendly way, but also to play its part in siding with those who, faced by aggression or threatened with a loss of their freedom, decide to resist.

DEMANDS of Chancellor Hitler on Poland are outlined in map above. The Polish-German rift is still one that may set off war spark.

The foreign office denied that it had made any such demand. It said that the Polish government was not only ready to meet Germany in a friendly way, but also to play its part in siding with those who, faced by aggression or threatened with a loss of their freedom, decide to resist.

'U.S. Needn't Go to War'-Castle

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Walter Dill Beahm, secretary of the American League for Peace and Democracy, today said that the United States need not go to war.

Germany appeared most likely to attack Russia if there were any European war.

Testifying at hearings on proposed revisions of the neutrality law, Castle said it was necessary for the United States to remain neutral.

"That the question of democracy is not involved is shown by the fact Germany appears most likely to attack Russia in order to be able to draw on the natural resources of the Ukraine for food," Castle said, "and Russia is as much a dictatorship as Germany."

Castle said that the United States should remain neutral and not get involved in European wars.

BOSTON'S churches lift their spires and domes against the skies of Spring. Down through the years of American liberty they have symbolized the right of our free people to worship God, each in his chosen way. And as long as American liberty exists, so will they stand inviolate on the foundation of racial and religious tolerance.

Religions and the churches—all religions and all churches—remain the bulwark of American tolerance, and tolerance remains the keystone of American democracy, and democracy remains the great arch of the peace and civilization of America.

So, to racial and religious tolerance, and the continued guarantee of free worship in the American way, and to the everlasting preservation of America's ideals and America's peace, these pages are dedicated by the Boston American.

Camilla

by Anne Stretton
who wrote 'PROPOSAL'

Who's Who and What's Happened:

CAMILLA and MARK might have come into a fine inheritance if their father, a famous but eccentric writer had married their mother. But this he neglected to do, and when he died he left no provision for his children. He did, however, leave a life interest in the house to their mother.

DAVIDS, who had an maternal affection for all for Camilla and Mark. And he willed the lands of Dove to SIMON, a cousin. Simon managed the estate efficiently, and was occasionally seen riding with Camilla and Mark, but not much was known about this strange family, as Camilla and Mark kept proudly aloof from the townpeople. They had no tea Simon was in the habit of bringing his fiancée, Evelyn, to their house. Instantly they disliked her and knew that the feeling was mutual. But it was some time before it dawned on them that as Simon's wife she would probably have them sent away. To Mark's amusement, on his sixteenth birthday, Simon told him he had made over Dove to him. Mark thanked him, and later wrote him a letter, which he left in the library, expressing his gratitude. Camilla found Evelyn reading this letter. They quarreled, and Simon, entering the library, sent Camilla to her room. Indignant at what she had learned in the letter, Evelyn spoke contemptuously of Camilla and Mark, and begged Simon to keep Dove.

ROMANCE DIES! Simon demands: "So you want to break off our engagement?" Evelyn answers: "You don't love me."

Now Continue:

CHAPTER TEN

THERE was a knock. Simon came to the door. She put her hand up to the key, but he checked it. "Simon! I don't want to see you! I don't want to see you!" "Simon! I don't want to see you! I don't want to see you!" Simon pressed the door open, and her fingers touched his neck. He was surprised to find how angry he was. As well as anger, he felt pity. She was so certain that her wishes could only be successful.

"I'm afraid that was what was in their mind," said Simon, looking at her. "I don't want to see you! I don't want to see you!" Simon pressed the door open, and her fingers touched his neck. He was surprised to find how angry he was. As well as anger, he felt pity. She was so certain that her wishes could only be successful.

HER OLD LOVE
Simon pressed the door open, and her fingers touched his neck. He was surprised to find how angry he was. As well as anger, he felt pity. She was so certain that her wishes could only be successful.

And there was no doubt that Simon, who treated the young women in their set with a certain amount of gracefulness, was determined in one with her. As she imagined him, now, his face was the same expression as on that day when he had begged her to marry him, and she had told him that she couldn't decide. If Evelyn had come from outside her own circle, she knew that she would have been able to detect his real nature.

YOU SHALL STAY!

MAURICE EVANS' FALSTAFF DELIGHTS SHUBERT AUDIENCE

Shakespearean Star Again Displays Amazing Talent

By PEGGY DOYLE

Maurice Evans, miracle man of the theater who makes Shakespeare as exciting as the latest bulletin from the White House, last night at the Shubert presented the third portrait in his gallery of masterpieces a Falstaff, wise, witty and wanton beyond any previous conception of Shakespeare's fat knight.

The customarily contained first-nighter, came to the Shubert to see the production of his Henry IV, superlatively produced by the way for the past several months, again as at the Shubert, opening remained to most suburban theaters and to tell Mr. Evans and his brilliant company back again and again for certain.

It was as was not Monday, a notable night in the Shubert, and no wonder. "Henry IV" that reeks with a zest for living, a raffish, robust, ready-witted, old bag, who was a favorite of the audience, has found in Maurice Evans a character actor of a personality and warmth, that is, in the Shubert, were appreciated. The evening was proportioned to the Shubert, and the evening seen in the Shubert.

Sir John Falstaff, as Mr. Evans, with a zest for living, a raffish, robust, ready-witted, old bag, who was a favorite of the audience, has found in Maurice Evans a character actor of a personality and warmth, that is, in the Shubert, were appreciated. The evening was proportioned to the Shubert, and the evening seen in the Shubert.

He was not, Maurice Evans, the first time of the evening, and the evening seen in the Shubert.

The play Mr. Evans and his company Margaret Webster who stages the Evans productions have not permitted the fat knight and Falstaff to be a comedy, but an excellent company.

There are shining performances by Maury Christians and Wade Adams as Lady Percy and Hotspur in the second act's Warwick castle scene, and in the scene following when these two and Clarence Matthews and Everett Ruess, as King Henry IV, and Edmund Mortimer, Earl of March, and Lady Mortimer, as Elizabeth of Bohemia, France, and the French king, are in the scene.

Other outstanding performances were turned in by Evans' fat knight, as Falstaff, and by the company, as the Shubert, and the evening seen in the Shubert.

And Falstaff's sets and the past plays have been received with imagination and a wonderful past, as the Shubert, and the evening seen in the Shubert.

Basil Rathbone's Sherlock Highlights Thrill Classic

By PEGGY DOYLE

It was chancey but Twentieth Century-Fox have succeeded where so many makers of thrillers have failed. Their "Hound of the Baskervilles" is a thrill classic that has been transferred to the screen and is an excellent example of the genre.

Yesterday's opening of the "Hound of the Baskervilles" at the Keith Memorial was a triumph for the Twentieth Century-Fox. The film is a masterpiece of the genre, and it is a pity that it is not shown more often.

WASHINGTON, April 13—The Bees head for Boston tonight following the final game of their series with the Senators.

The club is now looking forward to its two-game city series with the Red Sox that will be played on Saturday and Sunday.

F. D. R. REPORTS ARM O.K.

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP)—Pitcher Franklin D. Roosevelt reported today that his arm was in good shape for the opening game of the American League baseball season on Monday.

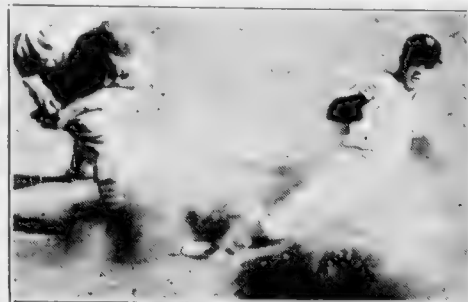

The President accepted the invitation of Clark Griffith, president of the Washington club, to attend the opener against the New York Yankees and to throw out the first ball.

Griffith and Ford Frick, president of the National League, presented to the President annual passes on behalf of both the major leagues.

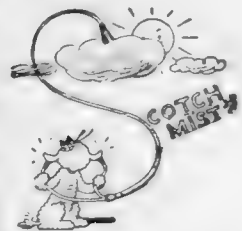

The National League pass was engraved in a piece of the hide of an elephant that died at the zoo here some time ago, and the baseball executives said the President remarked laughingly that it reminded him of the Republican party.

Sox Have Chance To Win Pennant

Joe Clancy Is Given Low Down

WASHINGTON, April 13.

Mr. Joseph Clancy,
Dear Joe:

An Boston's No. 1 Bees' router, you may not like some of the things I am going to say about the Red Sox, but you will cheer lustily at other of my remarks. I know you would be charitable enough to concede that if the Red Sox were to play in the National League they could still finish a few points ahead of the Phillies.

I understand that even staunch old National leaguers like yourself believe that the Phillies should join the Eastern League or apply for membership in some twilight loop where you couldn't see how bad they really are.

I saw the Red Sox play the Bees at Bradenton when I checked in with Joe Cashman, Johnny Drotian, Mel Webb and some of the other newsmen who order two-base hits rather than orange juice for breakfast.

I summarize my findings on the Red Sox as follows:

1 The Sox believe they are going to win the American League pennant, but would hit anybody over the head with a baseball but who mentioned this thought or loud. From Joe Cronin down, the Sox like to say they will finish in first division, and let it go at that.

If the Sox pitching and catching departments can hold up, the Sox have enough power to make a real drive on the Yankees' stronghold. I have already gone out on a limb and picked the Yankees to win the American League pennant and refuse to get excited because Lou Gehrig isn't bending back the outfield fences with his hits.

So, Joe, give the Sox an outside pennant chance. Make the Yankees a 4 to 5 choice, but put two bolts down on Joe Cronin's team to win.

Before anybody counts the Yankees out they would do well to check Joe McCarthy's lineup and find out if Joe DiMaggio is still playing. Joe is quite a ball club by himself.

Red Sox Have Better Pitching

2 THAT WAS a swell crack you made, Joe, about the 1938 pitching staff of the Red Sox. You mentioned it was so bad that Doc Cramer had to come in from center field to finish a ball game. I do not believe things will be that low this year.

Connors, Claiborne, Jake Wade and Eldon Auker should be able to help the Sox. In Florida everybody was talking about youthful Woodie Rich while I was told the Jim Bagby, Jack Wilson and Fritz Ostermeier were going along fairly well. If Lefty Grove wins any ball games for Tom Yawkey, it will be like getting a fat dividend from the defunct corporation. Grove has pitched most of the rubber out of his arm, but he still feels he will be able to win some games for the Sox.

I would say that the odds were against Old Moose taking his regular turn in the box, but he may be able to win an occasional game if spotted in the right place. When the Red Sox power gets working, even I might be able to win one for Cronin.

3 The Sox have terrific hitting power. I am going to suggest to President Roosevelt that in his defense program he give some consideration to Jimmy Fox, Bobby Doerr, Joe Cronin, Joe Vasmik and Dock Cramer. They could drive any enemy that might bob up back with base hits.

4 Jim Tabor looks all right at third base. Doerr, who will not be 21 years of age until April, is playing his third season at second base and looks like one of the most promising youngsters in baseball. He is a fine fielder and can hit.

5 Doc Cramer, of course, ranks with the great center fielders. Joe Vasmik will do all right in left, while Ted Williams, a loose limbed athlete, will keep improving in right. Then there is Nonnancamp who can be used where needed.

Club Needs More Catching Strength

6 THE RED SOX need more catching strength. Gene Deaustein has done a good job, but hasn't got much support. Peacock is only a fair receiver. There are keen baseball experts who believe that the Sox weakness behind the bat will knock the club out of its chance to win the pennant.

7 The club spirit is excellent. Tom Yawkey, Eddie Collins and Joe Cronin compose one of the finest management setups in baseball. I would like to see Tom Yawkey get a pennant dividend on his $4,000,000 investment.

I shall never forget that Yawkey spent most of this money at a time when the average business leader was playing a conservative game.

Yawkey believes Boston rates a pennant, and he is willing to pay the price. I am rooting for him to come up with a winning ticket.

McARDLE JOINS B. C. STAFF

JOE McARDLE

John P. Curley, graduate manager of athletics at Boston College, announced this morning that Joe McArdle of Lowell, former Fordham guard, has been added to the staff of coaches at University Heights.

McArdle will work with the club from now until the end of the spring season. The newly-appointed coach attended Lowell High School, where he was a regular guard for three seasons, meriting All-Merrimack Valley selection in his junior and senior years.

He then matriculated at St. John's Prep School and played regularly for two seasons. He matriculated at Fordham in 1931 and was graduated in 1935. He is regarded as one of the best guards to be graduated from Rose Hill.

While playing at Fordham he was coached by Frank Leahy, present head coach at B. C. Because of the fact that several backs are being converted into guards, McArdle has a lot of work ahead of him.

Westenberg Out to Regain Mat Title

Predicting that he will regain the heavyweight wrestling crown without a mask, Marvin Westenberg of Seattle, Wash., for some months known as The Shadow, will take on Steve Casey again at the Boston Arena tonight.

Casey lost his title to Marvin Westenberg in the second round of the first fight, but he has been regaining the title in the second round of the second fight, causing the later to spend several days in the hospital after the bout.

Westy has met Casey twice and the Crusher has yet to pin the husky coast star to the mat. Their first bout went to a long and thrilling draw, and in the second Westenberg created a major upheaval in the wrestling world when he decisively whipped the Irishman and took the title.

At the time he downed the Crusher, Westy became the first unknown Ig history to ascend the mat throne. His victory over the Irishman marked the first time in his career in American wrestling that Casey had been pinned to the mat and held there.

RATES EDGE

So on the record, Westy rates the edge.

"I have his number, and he knows it," says Westenberg. "I wrestled him twice now and I know every move he makes."

Both men have trained long and strenuously for the battle for better than a week and a half.

The semifinal looks like a rip-roaring affair with Rebel Bob Russell of Newport, who is king of the bad men scheduled to face Mayes MacLain, the former Haskell Indian football star. MacLain, a recent arrival here, is a smooth and skilled worker.

In preliminaries, Jim and Tom Casey, brother of the world's champion, will appear. Jim clashes with Pat Kelley, and Tom takes on Heine Olsen, one of the wrestling twins.

Other preliminary skirmishes include Frank Brown vs. Wally Dusek, and Pat Reilly vs. Steve Barts.

HARTNETT PICKS B'S TO FINISH IN FIFTH

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

OWENSBORO, Ky.—The Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago White Sox today concluded a nine-game exhibition series begun last month on the Pacific Coast. Manager Pie Traynor of the Pirates assigned Bob Klinger to pitch, Maurice Van Robays, rookie outfielder, left the Pirates last night for Montreal by way of St. Louis, where he was to have an operation for an abscess.

PORTSMOUTH, O.—Pitchers Paul Derringer and Junior Thompson drew the nod from Manager Bill McKechnie today as the Cincinnati Reds opened a four-game series against the Detroit Tigers.

TOPEKA, Kan.—Manager Fred Haney, bringing his St. Louis Browns here today for their last exhibition before their home town series with the Cardinals, is well satisfied with the recent showing of his ace hurler, Buck Newsom. Newsom has given only three hits over nine innings, divided into two games against the Chicago Cubs.

NORFOLK, Va. Cletus (Poof) Poffenberger is away to a good start with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Immediately after joining the team at Greenville, S. C., he sat down with some of his new mates in a restaurant and ordered a big dinner—then left before it was served. He sped away to have a tooth pulled.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—LeGrant Scott, the outfielder obtained from Birmingham, is Manager Doc Frith's choice of the best rookie with the Phillies and will have the cleanup spot in the batting order when the season opens.

PORTSMOUTH, O.—Roy Cullenbine thinks he might like to be a pitcher, but he expects to continue trying for the Detroit Tigers outfield nevertheless. Long George Gill, a Tiger hurler, says he saw Cullenbine pitch a few innings in a southern exhibition game once and that Roy had plenty of stuff but little control.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—The New York Giants matched Slim Melton against Mel Harder of the Cleveland Indians today. Because Harder has a sore shoulder and is scheduled to work the season's opener against the St. Louis Browns next week, it was expected Johnny Allen would take over the Cleveland chore early.

CHICAGO—Back at home to await their city series with the White Sox, the Chicago Cubs went through a routine workout at Wrigley Field today. Manager Gabby Hartnett made his return the occasion for predicting his team would successfully defend the National League pennant with the clubs trailing in this order: New York, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Boston, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Brooklyn.

TARBORO, N. C.—Connie Mack is hoping Bill Nagel can perform on major league pitching the way he has been doing on the Grapefruit League offerings. The rookie star got two homers yesterday from Williamsport. So did Frankie Hayes.

NORFOLK, Va.—All is well with the New York Yankees again.

After a three-day slump Joe DiMaggio is hitting again. He collected a home run and two singles out of five chances against the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday.

OWENSBORO, Ky.—Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox is looking ahead on his pitching assignments. He indicated that Bill Dietrich, who faced the Pirates today, would draw the mound role for the Monte Stratton benefit game in Chicago, while Johnny Rigney is destined for the season's opener against Detroit.

Time and N. L. Will Catch Yankees, Says Ford Frick

Ford C. Frick opposes breaking up the Yankees . . . Says time and the National League will catch up with 'em some day . . . Some of those who can afford to know about polo will not be surprised if Stewart Iglehart, one of our four ten-goal men, is not on the team that battles the British next June.

They'll use two timekeepers in the out-Roper bout—one to clock Joe's right and the other his left . . . Prediction: Log Gehrig will play more than 100 games for the Yanks this year and hit better than .330.

Dear Sir Dept.

"Get this line set up for June 20."

"A battered bulk of bruised baloney."

Colgate is busy denying Andy Kerr has resigned effective at the close of next season . . . and that he'll be succeeded by Ben Bream, head coach at Gettysburg College . . . just the same, Bream visited Colgate twice last week and the Harrisburg Telegraph says he'll be named head basketball coach and assistant to Kerr any hour now . . . Budge and Perry have cured Baron Von Cramm of any idea of turning pro . . . Ray Hayworth has come to the rescue of the Dodgers by offering to room with Baron Poffenberger . . . A surprising number of experts are picking the cards to finish in the first division.

Today's guest star.

Art Cohn, Oakland Tribune: Calvin Coolidge was president; Fula Negri was the queen of Hollywood and Jack Dempsey was still recuperating from the Firpo fight when U. of California last won a track meet from Southern California."

Golf manufacturers are going for that stainless steel Oscar B. East has developed . . . It won't rust and you can have your clubs in all colors of the rainbow—a pink driver, green shafted putter, etc. . . . Make your vanilla, Butch . . . Walter Cox, the Goshen (N. Y.) trotting sage, has nibble Hanover a 5-2 favorite in the Hambletonian with Peter Astra in second place at 4-1 . . . Well, Don Meade is with us again and we suppose you can call it a comeback of some sort . . . The Tony Jackson rooling and tooling association will tone a party for the signor a few days before he departs for the coast.

Believe It Or Not.

Max Baer broomed in yesterday rating himself fourth among the heavies—behind Louis, Galento and Nova.

Hollywood must rate him down to low G. too, for if sheathed the boss opera singer Max was to have made and want make the pictures unless he belts out Nova . . . Frankie Strafel, the North and South champ, can't make up his mind whether to try to qualify for the national open or go after Charles Yates' British amateur crown . . . Bennie Haskins, 233-lb. Oklahoma U. tackle dropped his weight during the first spring drill he lost his pants three times . . . Now he's two up on Bob Pastor . . . Mike Jacobs took one look at the Roper-Louis advance sale and went away from there muttering "O, O, O!"

Dogger Doing.

Poffenberger denies he's a schlemiel . . . Durocher says his boys don't know who they're playing half the time and don't care . . . But they beat the Yankees again.

Four N. E. Boxers Win

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13 (AP)—Two defending titheholders scored easy victories in preliminary National A. A. championships bouts.

Turning in the most impressive performance of the afternoon, Bill Speary of Philadelphia, bantam-weight crown bearer the last two years, knocked out Abe Sauton of Denver in 1:42 of the first round.

Billy Eddy, featherweight champion from Flint, Mich., outpointed Cleon Williams of Malad, Idaho, favorite as he entered the ring. Bradley Lewis of Albany, N. Y., 1938 middleweight titleholder failed to get going and received a pasting from another Negro, Edward Charles of Cincinnati.

Four New England boxers carried off honors in the battling.

Johnny Leonard of Taunton, Mass., gained the decision over Tony Albert of Cleveland in the 138-pound class, and Johnny Farren of South Boston, Mass., outpointed Herbert Engel of Allen, Neb., by decision in the 126-pound division.

Called into action twice, Albert Dutra of Cambridge, Mass., defeated Sam Shoulderbald of Cumaca, Ore., in the first round of the 118-pound class, and disposed of Eric Koberg, Belleville, Ill., by the same route in the second round of the 135-pound class.

Alfred "Red" Priest, gained the decision over Dan Fernandez, rugged Honolulu brawler, in the 147-pound class.

The two New Englanders eliminated — Anthony Peppe, Boston, Mass., by Allen Richie, New Orleans, by decision in the 112-pound class, and Herbert Connan, Rochester, Mass., lost the nod to the Miller, Kansas City, Mo., in the heavyweight division.

TORONTO, April 13—With the exception of Ray Gettcliffe, Nic Demore, Jack Shewchuk, Terry Reardon, Pat McReavey, Red Hamill and Harley Frost, who worked out yesterday noon at the Garden, the Bruins rested up for tonight's game . . .

Art Ross will bring up a real prospect next fall in Gordie Bruce . . . This kid was with the North Bay Packers this season and such an expert as Harley Frost has gone out on the limb that he's ready for N. H. L. hockey . . . Just as soon as the Oshawa Generals eliminated the Edmonton Roamers in the Memorial Cup finals, Conn Smythe will sign Billy Taylor to a Maple Leaf contract . . . Billy Taylor scored five goals in the first Generals-Roamers game and last night he made four more goals and five assists . . . Frank Selke, the elient man behind the scenes at the Maple Leaf Gardens, discovered Billy Taylor seven years ago.

Frank put Billy through De La Salle school and was responsible for the youngster going to Oshawa . . . Billy was the Maple Leaf mascot for three years . . . He's the talk of Canada today . . . Billy has a nine-year-old brother, Buddy, who mascot for the Generals . . . Last night I asked Buddy if he thought he'd ever be as good as "Billy" . . . "Better," replied the youngster . . . "Oh, is that so . . . Well, tell me what you have that Billy lacks?" . . . Without batting an eye, Buddy replied "brains" . . .

Billy Taylor has scored 93 points this season . . . And, he has developed a following that'll pack Maple Leaf Gardens . . . Bob Murphy, "super" of the Boston Gardens and Ernie Doody, the pride of Dartmouth, N. S., are here for tonight's game . . . Looks like Doody will go for the head tax before he's allowed to return to the "States" . . . On his way home to Montreal from St. Louis, where he played with the Flyers this season, "Happy" Harnett dropped off here and visited with his old friends . . .

Happy played with the Boston Tigers a few years ago . . . Bill Hollett yesterday visited his home, which is about 80 miles north of this hamlet . . . Eddie Shore has sat on the Edmonton Roamers bench during both games . . .

1. Kisses vs. Goldfish—A kiss in time saves nine goldfish on Boston University campus . . . and James McDonough takes up this substitute for piscatorial dunking in a big way, with three co-eds fleeing his donjuanish advances. STORY ON PAGE 14

2. Speed's the Word—Here's a picture of a guy who guessed wrong . . . It's Jimmy, who thought he could catch dimpled Dot Silverstein without half trying, but he's wrong.

3. Gotcha!—Out-run by Dot, Jimmy's still persistent. He catches Helene Champlain, who looks as though she doesn't want to play. But look . . .

4. Toljaso!—Scuse it, please . . . but it's Spring . . . and a hullabaloo bet for a goldfish swallowing . . . says Jimmy, says Helene.
